HONGKONG, MARCH 26th, 1898.

THE expulsion of a British journalist from Siam has naturally excited great interest at Bangkok, and the subject is discussed at Frances-Tientsin, 1858; Convention, 1860; length in the journal affected and the other local papers. Mr. Lille has declared that he will not leave the country voluntarily and presumably he will therefore be placed by force upon a steamer-leaving for Singapore or other British port. He has further declared his intention of taking legal proceedings in the home courts against the Great Britain, 1858; Teade Convention, 1866; British Minister in Siam. It they can abandon a British subject for deportation they might equally well allow him to be imprisoned or executed by native authorities, a course which could under no circumstances be tolerated. Government have blundered no less than the Siamese. The blunder of the Siamese is more in the nature of an indiscretion than of an illegality, for if Mr. LILLIE was not entitled to foreign protection the Siamese Government would be within its rights in expelling him. The indiscretion seems to have been a matter of temper. Mr. Lillie's writings, which appeared to be intended to stir up difficulties between France and Siam and to incite the French nation to aggressive action against Siam, were no doubt exasperating, but it would have been better either to have treated them with contempt or to-have taken constitutional action against the writer in the courts of his own nationality. THE BROUGH COMEDY COMPAN

" THE PASSPORT." Lovers of light, farcical confedy had their appetites whetted to the full last evening when "The Passport" was produced by the Brough Company. No better proof of their versatility could be given than the change from "The Second Mrs. Tanquery" to "The Passport." The first is tragedy, the second is farcical comedy of a boisterous order. Not boisterously played, however; far from it. T performance last night was exactly what furcical comedy should be. Every character was admirably placed, the play progressed just like a piece out fresh out of real life, with the actors living beings, making laughter as if by accident—the art which conceals art. The do lightful freshness and naiveté of Mrs. Brough and the lumour of Mr. Brough, who appears in one of his best comedy characters; are excellent. Though the Passport" is indebted for its leading incident to "My Official Wife," it does not in any other respect even faintly resemble Colonel Savage's novel: Fordinand Sinclair of the play, a traveller to Russia, agrees to take a strange lady across the frontier into that country by allowing her to share his passport instead of his true wife, who died a few months before; Lenox in the novel; does a precisely similar thing. But when Colonel Lenox and his fair companion reach St. Petersburg, he discovers that she is a Nihilist, and in the scene at the great ball given by the Countess Ignatieff, the novel runs within a hair's breadth of tragedy, for the lady makes up her mind to kill the Czar, and is prevented from doing so only at the last second by a secret dose of opinm given her by Lonox. Mr. Sinclair, on the other hand, runs norisk of this kind, but he meets a fate almost as bad, for on his wedding morning, eighteen months afterward, the lady with a roal husband this time (her second) appears as a guest, and complications ensue. Sinclair has, as may be seen, an exceptionally lively day in endeavouring to explain matters to his new father-in-law (who met the lady and Sinclair on the Russian frontier) and to his new wife and her mother. The erstwhile Mrs. Sinclair herself having a just fear of its pessent busband's auger, is equally auxious that the affair of the passport shall be kept secret. The maze of complications is bewildering. The piece is adtiqual merriment, each fresh perplexity arousing even greater mirth than that which had preceded it. Indifferently acted, the piece would have been completely spoiled; the Broughs acted it beautifully. Mrs. Brough's performance of Mrs. Darcy was full of life, and may be ranked with her

The so-called Russian ultimatum simply amounts to this, that Russia has requested that unless a definite answer should be given by the Chinese Government by the 26th inst, to certain proposals which Russia has made in connection with Port Arthur, Russia will consider China as acquiescing in the proposed transfer of Port Arthur and Talionwan to the Czar, The five days reported to be given to China for a raply in the alleged cltimatum have long since

These prizes were awarded to D. Belilios and H. Naphtali respectively. We tender our best thanks to the Navy League and its hon, secretary for their endeavours to kindle a spirit of patriotism among the children.

The library has been a source of great pleasure to the pupils, but more books are required and we shall be very grateful if our friends will assist to provide them. Drill has been carried on during the year and many of our pupils have been enrolled in the local Volunteer Corps. The physical welfare of the children has been carefully considered. It is now my privilege, and in a certain sense my duty also, to make a few remarks to you wit regard to the interesting occasion that has called us together. I am quite sure it is an interesting occasion to all of you who are here, ecause you must have been pleased to see the evidences of careful training on the part of the masters and mistresses of these schools and the very pleasing appearance of the boys and especially of the girls. (Applause.) This is the first time I have had the pleasure of coming into contact with the Victoria English Schools, but I hope it will not be tue last time. (Hear, hear.) I propose to say a few words to you first with regard to the schools and their history during the past year, and then to address a few words of kindly counsel and comfort to the boys and girls who are taught at the schools. With regard to the superiority—as it indeed is—of the girls as compared with the boys in these schools, one may make a few remarks on the subject of female education. I have not seen many decades, but still I have seen quite enough to recollect that during the carlier of those decades female education was a thing of scraps and shreds. Female education was carried out in a very perfunctory and incomplete manner. But now in various departments of learning women equal and rival men. You boys must not allow the girls to take away from you the intellectual superiority which the men have held for so long. (Henr, hear.) The Secretary of the Punjom Mining Co., Limited, advises us that he has received the following progress report on the operations carried on at the Company's Mine for the month of February, 1898:-

August shaft 300 feet Level .- This has been further extended 39 feet, making total distance from shaft 212 feet. I expected to have intercapted the lode at 189 feet from shaft, but it was only when we had driven 198 feet that we saw any trace of lode, and there only in the shape of leaders, the largest 6 inches wide, so I decided to continue driving north, to ascertain if the lode was further ahead of us; but nothing of value was found. I then decided to bring the men back to open up the leaders east, and to continue this drive if advisable until we cross our North and South lode, which should be standing about 80 feet to the east of us. There is no change to notice in the leaders for the distance driven, 9 feet. It is not defined, but twisted about a good deal.

The face of the North drive looks more promising, and it is possible that the lode may yet The East and West lode is apparently contracting in length, as depth is attained; and it 3 possible that it may form a junction with our North and South lode, and that the North and South lode will be the main chute of stone in depth. This I think must take place as from the different angles and dip of lodes one must give place to the other in depth if it is con-There is certainly a great change from our 200 ft. level to our 300 ft. level, caused, I think, by the slide perhaps thrown some distance. A musterful lode of 30 ft., wide, like we had at the 200 ft. level, will not out out like that, but we may have a like difficulty at first in tracing it. North Shaft.—We again struck quartz at this point 36 ft, below the 200 ft, level, and Standard V .- L. Zialcita, Goneral Excellence; we have carried it down with us to present depth of 40 ft. 6 inches and have not yet reached foot wall. The stone at this depth is not so defined or so rich for mineral as the stone passed through at 17 ft., below the 200 ft. level, and is to al appearances heaving around to an east and west course, its original course thrown out of same by the slide, or better known perhaps, as a cross course. It will be interesting to watch the effect this will have on our mine in depth, or even at our 300 feet level when this point is reached. 200 fb. level.—A small stope was opened on the gold found in the back of the drive, but not being able to trace it, the stone cutting out work was suspended.

Winze below the 200 feet level.—This is down 22 feet. The lode is not so large as at first, and is dipping away fast to the north, this is also broken up and changing to an east and west course. The shaft is 300 feet to the north of this and will prove the ground independent of winze. We save the stone for milling from this point, but it is poor for free gold. 150 feet level .- A small drive was opened on a leader about one foot wide near the new shaft and stoping commonced. This in stoping up should connect with our 110 ft. level; it will pay for working and give us a little stone for the will. We did not mill any stone from the mine during the mouth: Total drivage for the month 108 feet 6 inches.
